About Developers: The Dragon Age team is a party of experienced games developers who were brought together for a special purpose: to create Dragon Age Origins, the best game of the Dragon Age franchise that would bring the best experience ever to the series. The entirety of the Dragon Age team is not only experienced, but very talented and passionate individuals. Those who created Bioware before (and even after) the Dragon Age series made them an excellent source for expertise, experience and designs. Testimonials from Previous Members: Patrick Mills, Lead Writer/Designer "Matt McElroy and I have a secret among our friends: we love Dragon Age: Origins. To be fair, the rest of the internet doesn't know that yet, though now more than ever with the launch of the much-anticipated Dragon Age: Inquisition. So when EA announced they were bringing Bioware back together for a new fantasy RPG, it caught our attention for a few reasons: Bioware had already made an RPG of their own, the original Baldur's Gate, and we were excited to have options. It's a bit hard to say why we love DA:O so much. Honestly, we've never loved a Bioware game so much, but maybe it's because it was our first ever Bioware game. We fell in love with the Divinity series, or maybe it was our first time around an RPG. When you've never played an RPG before, it's just a whole new genre of game to play, and DA:O let us dive right into it. c9d1549cdd
