The DataLINE diagnostic software interrogates, configures and monitors the refrigeration controller and DataCorder trip data recorder. The DataCorder is a trip data recorder used as data storage in many refrigerant systems. It records the measured values of ambient temperature, cabin temperature, system pressure, refrigerant flow, as well as the amount of refrigerant that has been charged into the system. The recorder also records the temperature of the refrigerant, which is at the end of the pipeline. The trip data recorder supports multiple data recording standards.
